London and Capital is committed to making its website available to as many people as possible. Many Internet users can find websites difficult to use due to the way they have been designed. We recognise that this is an important issue and are making changes to ensure that the London and Capital website site is accessible in accordance with the World Wide Web Consortium (W3C) guidelines.

Changes to improve accessibility are on-going, but if you come across a page you find difficult to use please let us know. Alternatively, the following internet browser changes may enhance your accessibility of this website.

The website is designed to be multi-browser accessible, however browser releases/updates prior to 2013 may not function as intended. The website has been tested in the following browsers:

- Internet Explorer 7 and above
- Firefox
- Chrome
- Safari
- Opera
- iPhone and iPad
